Highlights

MATTHEW CHON

STRIKER/WINGER | CLASS OF 2027

Matthew Chon is a physically dominant left-footed center forward from Italy who combines size, strength, mobility, and a natural goalscoring instinct. Standing at 6'2" (187 cm) and weighing 192 lbs (87 kg), he is a true target striker who excels at playing with his back to goal, protecting possession, and creating space for his teammates while remaining a constant threat inside the penalty area. Throughout his youth career, Matthew has represented several respected Italian clubs, including Club Milano, Ausonia, Vogherese, Sant'Angelo and Iris. He has consistently competed at the Regional Elite level while also gaining valuable experience in Italy's National League. Matthew has built a reputation for delivering in decisive moments. He won the Regional Elite Championship with Club Milano, finishing the season as the league's top scorer. He later won another Regional Championship with Iris by scoring the decisive goal that secured the league title (Decisive goal article). Just one year before, he also scored a spectacular late winner for Ausonia to send his team into the quarter-finals of the prestigious Trofeo Italo Galbiati (Match-winning goal for Ausonia). His performances earned him an invitation to train with Alcione's Primavera squad, confirming his potential to compete at a higher level. Despite his powerful physical profile, Matthew possesses impressive acceleration and athleticism. His intelligent movement, excellent positioning inside the box, aerial presence, and composed finishing make him a constant attacking threat. Matthew is highly motivated to pursue both his academic and athletic development in the United States. His professionalism, competitive mentality, and willingness to work for the team make him an exciting prospect for college soccer.
