

MEGA A. NNACHI

Center Back / Right Back | CLASS OF 2027

Mega Anthony Nnachi is a versatile Italian defender who combines an excellent tactical education with experience in both elite youth and senior football. Standing at 6'2" (188 cm) and 165 lbs (75 kg), he can operate as a center back or right back, offering size, mobility and positional flexibility across the defensive line.

Mega spent ten years developing within the Juventus youth system, where he learned to read the game, defend in structured tactical environments and remain composed under pressure. He was also named Player of the Season for his Juventus age-group team and received multiple individual best-player recognitions during his youth career.

He is comfortable in possession and capable of contributing to the build-up from defensive areas. His positioning, anticipation and decision-making allow him to manage different defensive situations, while his versatility gives coaches the option to use him centrally or on the right side.

During the 2026–27 season, Mega is beginning his second year competing in Italy's Serie D with Saluzzo. Playing senior football provides him with valuable experience against older, stronger and more physically developed opponents.

From our evaluation, Mega is a legitimate college prospect with the background, tactical understanding and potential to make an impact within a competitive U.S. college soccer programme. He is motivated to continue his athletic and academic development in the United States.
